TODAYS PERFORMANCE RANKED HIGH IN CLIENT SURVEY

Candidate Quality and Customer Service Results Reinforce Overall Satisfaction Ratings; 93 Percent of Respondents Would Recommend Todays to Another Company

DALLAS, TX – August 15, 2006 – Todays Staffing, a recognized staffing leader offering highly specialized talent solutions, announces today the results of their 2006 client satisfaction survey. Satisfaction with Todays overall performance was ranked at 95 percent (satisfied or better) – well above the industry average of 88 percent as reported by Staffing Industry Analysts, Inc (SIA) after a February 2006 survey.

The survey, sent to Todays clients in May by an independent third party, had more than an eight percent response rate. The responses and overall results were very positive, with respondents ranking Todays very favorably in candidate quality and customer service.

“The survey results reinforce that we are making strong progress in becoming recognized as the high-quality staffing solutions provider,” says Dan Neuburger, President of Todays. “We are extremely pleased with the remarkable ratings our customers gave us overall, and will strive to continuously improve.”

Additional key findings of the survey include:

- 96 percent of customers are satisfied with the quality of Todays candidates
- 95 percent of customers are satisfied with the level of customer service they receive from Todays
- 93 percent of Todays customers would recommend us to another company

Another notable finding was that the survey reinforced the importance of candidate quality. As in previous years, nearly 70 percent of respondents said that quality of the candidate is the most important attribute when choosing a staffing company and it is the key driver of overall satisfaction. This is in line with the recent survey from SIA, which also found that candidate quality is the most important factor in choosing a staffing supplier.

“We are particularly proud of the high satisfaction rating our clients gave the quality of our candidates. Increasingly, the marketplace is demanding the high quality of employees that our clients receive from Todays – it’s all about a process that works and people who care,” said Neuburger.

Todays continuously monitors customer satisfaction results to reinforce their commitment to providing quality staffing solutions to companies of all sizes.
